ED. SOUTH KENTUCKIAN:

Imagination carries us further than our foot-steps will ever reach while coiled in this mortal tenement of decay. It wafts us aloft amid the myriads of celestial worlds, it draws us through the billows of the mighty, deep, and into the uttermost recesses of the earth, and its remotest bounds. Our conceptions are so vivid that we behold more in a moment's ideality than we witness in a lifetime's realization. What though astronomy teaches us the science of the heavenly bodies, and geography gives us a description of the world and its inhabitants; is this not visionary after all? and our hearts still yearn for a realization of those things never revealed to us. We live in a land where all our dreams and fancies may possibly be realized. Our great railroad facilities afford us easy access within close proximity to many of the natural wonders that Omnipotence has strewn our continent with. The great Atlantic and Pacific which bound our Continent on the East and West, with their attractive summer resorts, and their gulf, bays, capes, and inlets are easily reached. Our vast lakes and forests of the north and north west are within easy reach of us. We have everywhere around us marvelous wonders such as Mammoth Cave, Niagara and innumerable health-giving mineral springs, of which there are none more beneficial and attractive than the far-famed

NOT SPRINGS OF ARKANSAS.
Located almost in the heart of this continent, near the exact geographical center of the United States, they are easily accessible to every portion of our own, as well as that of other countries. Taking in the situation, after you arrive on the "Diamond Jo Reynold's" narrow gauge railroad, you strike the northern extremity of Central Avenue which alone comprises the town. We read in Biblical history of a street called straight—but the one you read of now might well be called crooked. The valley of the Ozark presents to the visitor a rather romantic appearance with its winding street about two miles long, running from north to south. Courting to the southward on your left is the east and on your right the west. You will perceive that on the former side are nearly all the stores which retail every commodity of commerce from a glass of Mountain Valley water at two cents up to a steam engine or a dollar baby. Confectioneries, saloons, cigar and drug stores are extensively represented, which gives to the street a civilized appearance. There is still another feature noticeable which tends to confirm its metropolitan aspect, namely: the several signs of "Rooms for rent," doctor's offices and club rooms. These are placed on every outside entrance from one end of the street to the other. Clinging to the west side and returning northward, casting your eyes still to the left, your optics are confronted by some fine hotel buildings, such as the Arlington, Avenue and Waverly, with some few smaller ones and private boarding houses interspersed. Then come the bath houses which are the most interesting of all the numerous artificial curiosities of the place. They are about a dozen in number and they extend in succession from the Arlington Hotel to the post office, a distance of about one quarter of a mile, and are located at the foot of Hot Springs mountain, where cometh all the fountains of living waters.

There is even peculiarity in the names of those bath houses which we will now describe for your personal. The principal ones are New Rector, Big Iron, Ozark, Independent Palace, Old Hale, (ought to be Old Hale,) and Hammelberg. These names have different derivations. The Rector after an old family living here by that name; the Ozark after the neighboring mountains; the Big Iron after the spring, it is built on; and the Hammelberg after its owner.

Two of the three banks of the place are next to the post office, and from these on to the depot are a few, houses of the appearance of jobbing houses of heavy wares, such as groceries, hardware, etc.

The Avenue hotel has its own bath rooms, and most of its guests as well as some outside parties patronize there, being considered amongst the best, and having all the essential appointments for the comfort and convenience of its patrons. There is hardly any difference in the properties of the waters of any of these bath houses, as it is supposed all come from the same source, and the Government built some large brick reservoirs into which all the waters of the springs are run, and from these all the bath houses are supplied, and hence there is practically no differ-

SEMI-WEEKLY SOUTH KENTUCKIAN
CHAS. M. MEACHAM, Editor
TUESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1884.

A bill will be introduced into the Legislature to incorporate a cremation society in Louisville.

Gov. Bates, of Tennessee, has been in office more than a year and has issued but twelve pardons.

If the Legislature doesn't want to break the State it had better hurry up and break the Senatorial deadlock.

An Ex-Speaker of the New Jersey Legislature has been convicted of an attempt to bribe a member of the Legislature, and has been sentenced to a term in the penitentiary.

Another colored boy has been admitted to the West Point Military Academy. He is from Ohio and his name is John H. Alexander. His rank in the school is 65 and he behaves himself well.

Dr. McClure, of Jeffersonville, Ind., accidentally rammed his hand against a gas jet and burned all the hair off his head. This may be referred to as a hair-breadth escape.

A bill has been introduced in the New York Legislature authorizing Magistrates to assess fine of $25 for each offense of selling theatre tickets above the box-office price. This is rough on ticket speculators.

James Nutt, who killed N. L. Dukes, at Uniontown, Pa., for the seduction and tradecement of his sister and the subsequent killing of his father, was acquitted upon trial last week.

59 out of 67 miners in a coal mine at Crested Butte, Colorado, were killed by fire-damp explosion Thursday. The bodies were dug out the following day. The 8 men who escaped were at the mouth of the mine and had not entered.

Congress has passed a resolution permitting two South American youths—one a son of the President of Guatemala and the other of the Ex-President of Nicaragua—to be educated at West Point. They are to pay all their expenses.

Gov. Knott's first veto was read before the Legislature last Wednesday. The bill was one originating in the House and concurred in by the Senate exempting from taxation for county purposes for thirty years, all property of the Cincinnati, Green River & Nashville Railroad Company in Lincoln county. The Governor offered two objections to the bill, viz.: that the provisions of the bill were unjust to the people of Lincoln county and that they were unconstitutional.

Fred Douglass, the well-known negro politician, of Washington, was married on the 22d to Miss Helen Pitts, a white woman who was formerly a copyist in his office while he was marshal of the district. Douglass' first wife was a negro woman and has been dead about a year. The woman he has just married is about 35 years old—less than half his age—and no older than his daughters by his first wife. There is a law in the District of Columbia against miscegenation, but Douglass will take his chances of a prosecution, as several violations have recently been passed unnoticed. The woman is said to be comely brunette, with ebony black hair.

The Owensboro Messenger says it is murder to kill a burglar who is trying to escape when caught in the act of robbery. The Messenger must be misinformed in regard to the law.

It is justifiable, or excusable homicide, and if a grand jury should find in indictment at all it would only be for manslaughter. It is a pity that every burglar is not discovered and shot dead on the spot. The Messenger's statement that Tom Witty killed the Casky burglar without knowing his offense is entirely erroneous. Witty was one of the posse summoned to arrest the negro, who was discovered inside the store burglarized and he was making his escape when shot by Witty. The inter had an examining trial before two magistrates and was acquitted. Our contemporary's assertion that the killing was murder is absurd.

Sixteen years ago Jim Hardison and Bob Bronson, of Richelieu, Logan county, engaged in a difficulty, at a log-rolling, and Hardison killed Bronson with a broadaxe and was subsequently tried and acquitted. Ever since there has been a deadly feud between their families and numerous quarrels, shootings and cuttings have been the result. Last Wednesday Geo. Hardison and Harry Bronson, sons of the participants in the first affray, met at Richelieu and after getting half drunk drew their knives and closed in a deadly struggle. Both men were game and active and in a moment Bronson fell dead stabbed to the heart and Hardison was disembowled and lived but a few moments. Both factions are up in arms and more bloodshed is expected.

A SENATOR AT LAST,
Would be a Gratifying Announcement, but it Cannot Yet be Made.

SIX MORE BALLOTS TAKEN WITHOUT EFFECT.

Our last report recorded the result of the 60th ballot, taken Wednesday night. The caucus met as usual on Thursday night and the 61st and 62nd ballots resulted in the announcement of the same old figures: Williams 52; Blackburn 55; Sweeney 24.

There were many absences represented by proxies and the crowd of spectators had dwindled down to a mere handful. After two ballots Senator Rigney moved to adjourn.

Mr. Talbot inquired upon the ground that the caucus was rapidly nearing a conclusion (laughter.)

Senator Clement said the Clerks were tired calling the roll. He would suggest that the members would remain all night in their seats and the Clerks instead of calling the roll could wait until the members wanted to change. This would save time and trouble (cheers and laughter.)

Mr. Mulligan got the floor and made a humorous speech, concluding with a motion that the caucus adjourn and that the members go to see "Pop," a play going on at the theatre. Then the caucus adjourned until Friday night.

Upon reassembling Friday night the question of settling the contest for Librarian came up, but the matter was postponed until Feb. 1. Balloting for Senator then began and the 63rd ballot showed no change. Mr. Harcourt then offered a resolution rescinding the caucus rule that prohibited further nominations. Upon motion of Blackburn men the consideration of the resolution was postponed indefinitely, by a vote of 64 to 56. This prevents further nominations until this question shall have been reconsidered, upon a motion of some member who voted affirmatively. It will be observed that 4 or 5 votes more would be enough to reconsider and pass the resolution and put an end to the deadlock.

In this connection we will state that 11 members from the 1st and 2nd Districts voted with the majority. A motion to appoint a committee of 12 to devise some means to break the deadlock was then made, and tabbed by a vote of 76 to 44.

The 64th ballot was then taken and Harcourt of Spencer changed from Williams to Sweeney, the vote standing: Williams, 51; Blackburn, 45; Sweeney, 25. On the next ballot the same member voted for Blackburn and on the 66th again changed back to Williams, saying he had been taking a little circuit and would return home.

The caucus after taking 4 ballots adjourned till last night. There is no probability that a conclusion will be reached this week.

HORSE RIDING.

We notice that many have a mania for talking of their ailments. One question about their health will tilt over you on the great reservoir of their complaints. They have told the story so often that they can slide through the whole, from O above to G below. For thirty years their spine has been at a discount, and they never were any better of neuralgia till they took the rheumatism. At first you feel sympathy for the invalid; but, after awhile, the story touches the judicious. They tell you that they feel so faint in the morning, and have such a poor appetite at noon, and cannot sleep nights, and have lumbago in their backs and little dots floating before their eyes, and have taken ammoniac, gargled their throat with sal ammoniac and bathed their back with saponaceous liniment; that very moment they are chewing chamomile flowers to settle their stomachs, and excuse themselves for a moment to take off a mustard plaster that begins to blister. They are the harvest of druggists and the amazement of physicians, who no sooner clear the pain from one spot than it appears in another. At times we should talk over our distresses and seek sympathy, but perpetual discourse on such themes wears out the patience of our friends. You always see the young people run from the greasing valetudinarian, and the minister fails in his confidence, for why speak of the patience of Job to one that says boils are nothing to his distresses? The hobby horse is wounded. Incurable nags are taken out on the common and killed, but this poor hobby jogs on with no hope on the other side of the Red sea of joining Pharao's horses. The more it limps, and the harder it breathes, the faster they ride it.—T. DeWitt Talmage.

Another colored boy has been admitted to the West Point Military Academy. He is from Ohio and his name is John H. Alexander. His rank in the school is 65 and he behaves himself well.

Dr. McClure, of Jeffersonville, Ind., accidentally rammed his hand against a gas jet and burned all the hair off his head. This may be referred to as a hair-breadth escape.

Use but one side of the paper and write as often as you have news items to chronicle, and no oftener.

COPIED COMMENTS.

A PLACE WHERE NO PRINTERS GO.

A New Jersey State Senator committed political har-kari by offering a bill to have the State printing done by penitentiary convicts. Besides, in one ever saw a printer or an editor in that sort of a place. They don't put up there.—Nashville World.

CAPT. STONE'S SOMERSAULT.

In disunion there is strength seems to be a recognized law of nature in Southwestern Kentucky. Capt. W. J. Stone voted for Offutt just in time to rob Adair, the next man, of all chance to unite the opposition in paying our end of the State a long standing debt.—Union Local.

INVINCIBLE GHUELLE.

Mary Anderson declares she will never marry. We once knew a young lady who declared the same thing—before she met us. Now she is a wife and the mother of three children. All that's the matter with Mary is that the right man hasn't wandered her way.—Breckenridge News.

ALTERED THE CASE.

Kentucks stand so closely together that they are almost clannish. In the opinion of a genuine Kentuckian, there is no part of our national history so important as the fact that old Pete Anderson's son Calib married Tobe Watkins' daughter, and afterwards owned "step High," the horse that Ben alias rode from Lexington to Frankfort in 1859. "You are arrested for disturbing the peace," said an Arkansaw judge to a tramp. "Judge, I bid a right to disturb the peace. I am a Kentuckian." "That alters the case," the judge replied, "I am a Kentuckian myself.—Arkansaw Traveler.

A VALUABLE QUILT.

Miss Mollie Williams, a young lady living near St. Joseph, Mo., has just finished making a silk quilt, the blocks of which are filled in with pieces of the dresses of more or less distinguished women throughout the country. The pieces in the quilt go up into the thousands. Among the ladies who kindly furnished their specimens are: Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Sartoris, Mrs. Gov. Knott, Mrs. Langtry, Fanny Davenport, Ellen Terry, Clara Morris, Maggie Mitchell, Kellogg, Bernhardt, Lotta Anna Dickensson, Mrs. Hendricks, Phoebe Couzins, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Medill, Mrs. Story, Mrs. Thos. E. Fletcher, Mrs. Carlisle, Mrs. Waterson and Mrs. Crittenden.

A Tribute of Respect.

At a meeting of the Hopkinsville Tobacco Board of Trade, held on the 23rd inst. the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased an all wise Providence to remove by death from his family and friends, Col. Jno. T. Edmunds who was a member of this Board and for many years its presiding officer, a gentleman of high standing in the business and social circles of the community, therefore

Resolved, That in his death the Board of Trade has lost one of its most valued, exemplary and esteemed members and society one of its truest and best citizens.

Resolved, That his kind and genial nature so impressed itself upon his associates and especially upon this Board as to make him respected and loved by all, and cause his memory to be kindly cherished and his example to be properly esteemed and emulated.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Board of Trade.

Resolved, That we tender to his family our heartfelt sympathy and request the city papers to publish these resolutions and that a copy be sent to his family.

II. G. ABERNATHY, Com.
J. E. JESUP,

Some little girls in a Brooklyn Sunday school were studying the history of David, the passage for the day being that which describes the shepherd boy's victory over Goliath. The teacher asked the question: "Now, can any of you little girls tell me who killed the giant?" Quick as thought one of the smallest responded, "Jack."
